VOL. V. PITTSBURGH, WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 29, 1868. NO. 273

Affairs in the Sonora are petitions of one representation, but regrets that the President's power for mischief was not more carefully circumscribed, and the three excluded States admitted, and that the Seminole question has been left in a chaotic state, causing the session to be chiefly remembered, we fear, for the opposition in connection and unfortunate collusion of some.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28, 1868.

The Revenue Commissionership.

There is considerable trouble at the White House over the failure to get control of the Internal Revenue office. Rollins holds that his resignation was entirely dependent upon the Senate's confirming his successor. Congress day ordered Rollins to withdraw the name still send to the Senate, and the intimation has been made to Rollins both by Cooper and McCulloch, in very pointed terms, that unless he did resign McCulloch would have to place in the possession and custody to the President that Rollins was incompetent, and also furnish material for charges so that the President could suspend him. Rollins has taken the advice of several Republicans, and all recommend him to stick. He came on the White House clique is played in the interest of Cooper.

Postage Stamps.

A Board, consisting of three scientific gentlemen, is now in session here, charged with examining all kinds of stamps used by or proposed to the Postoffice Department, with a view of selecting one of the best paper, least liable to counterfeiting, and most easily executed.

Lincoln's Estate.

Notwithstanding the labor of counsel Hanscom, published to-day, loudly declaring the pecuniary necessities of Mrs. Lincoln, that she has left Washington for the purpose of raising the funds, and charged his own action in the matter to the influence of Seymour. Chief of his principal staff officers, who acted after the Convention how he killed the ticket, responded, "What authority can you quote? You don't think I will begin to wear gray?"

Speculations.

A number of Southern Representatives have been consulting with leading Republicans here, concerning the propriety of passing a law in the Southern States similar to the law in South Carolina, providing that elections for President shall be chosen by the Legislature. The proposition seems to be very general here.

House Impeachments.

Mr. Eggleston, of Ohio, had a conference with Mr. Bingham, of the Judiciary Committee, regarding the impeachments of the Ohio cases, and was informed that an order directing him to bring the work at the head of the Louisville Canal would go out at once.

Mail Robberies.

The last Cincinnati papers received here were at last week. Wednesday's issue is a day's reading on the Baltimore and Ohio route and also mine on the Harrisburg route. The post-ratted mail will not be in order till the close of this week.

Important Unfinished Bills.

Among the large number of bills of general interest not finished at the recent session of Congress, the following may be made of the following. The general land bill did not get out of the Senate committee, and the bill to establish a land office, as called, was reported, and recommended by the House on three different occasions, but the majority in the latter was so small and uncertain that nothing could be done with the measure. The copper land bill was killed on the 27th day of the session by filibustering. The bill for locating the branch mint at Denver City, with the annual appropriation of $100,000 per year, was agreed upon in the House Military Committee, as was also the bill looking to military education in all our colleges as urged by Major Whittlesey, but neither was reported for lack of opportunity. The new bounty bill was called about in each branch, but no action on it took place. The bill for a uniform system of coinage was reported in the House, but never called up for debate. A large number of railroad subsidy or land grant bills were supposed to one branch or other, but failed to get through. The bill for the transfer of the Indian Bureau to the War Department did not pass either branch, but an amendment to the regular Appropriation bill gave General Sherman control of about a half the money of this year. The new army regulations were adopted by the Senate, but not acted on in the House. The bill for the new Portoffice at New York was reported in the House but not passed. Mr. Julian's Civil Service bill was passed forward several times, but in the House uniformly declined to enter upon its consideration. Mr. Patterson reported to the committee on foreign affairs, but action was not taken. The Mexican claims bill, King-Sam's Discussed Government bill for the three unrecognized States only passed the House. Mr. Wilson's bill for the removal of all officers in those States who cannot take the test oath only passed the Senate. The bill for the distribution of arms to the militia passed both branches, but no amount was included. The bill reducing the tax passed the Senate and went in the House Military Committee by three majority. The bill repealing the income and counting tonic passed the Senate, but was not reached in the House. The bill repealing the tax on liquors and on machinery for re-pairs was passed by the House and sent to the Finance Committee in the Senate.

Commissioner Still Pending.

There are about thirty-one nominations pending before the Senate on which action was not had before adjournment. The most important of these are Gen. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Charles E. Paine, of Iowa, Minister to Ecuador, and Ex-Senator Simon, of South Carolina, to be Collector at Customs at Charleston, in place of Hanley, to be removed. The only important executive nullified were the Mission to Ecuador, Naval Officer at New York, and Governor of the new Territory of Wyoming.

The Funding Bill.

There is not the most apparent probability that the funding bill will be signed. The Secretary of the Treasury was interviewed by members of the Finance Committee to favor it, but he remains with the President are so definite that he declined to advise Mr. Johnson to give it his approval. The Intelligencer of this morning pitches into the bill severely, because it enough the proposed new bonds from taxation.

Duty Against Sterling.

Wadley has brought suit against Butler for false imprisonment during the impeachment investigation, and says his damages are $100,000. Butler is coming when he will meet Wadley and the latter will be served on him at the same time up a Baltimore train for money it is alleged he extorted from them at Fortress Monroe during the war.

Visiting the West.

S. A. Capron, Commissioner of the Agricultural Bureau, has gone West for a fortnight. He will move into the new Department building soon after his return.

The Chicago Exchange.

Lenox here to-morrow for New York, where they will go to Auburn and Niagara.

Senator Wade.

Also leaves for the West to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28, 1868.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued instructions in obedience to orders, removed from headquarters in this city, during the past month a number of coal agents. Some of these were replaced by military officers, others by civilians.

The Daily Commercial

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1868.

The Commercial is the largest daily paper in the State, and has long had a much larger circulation than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and is the cheapest of the lot.

In point of its editorial friends on the eastern papers of the Commercial, we will state that they are regularly copied in the New York Economist, Shipping List, Iron Age, and other papers of like character in that and other cities, and that leading English commercial papers and circulars notice it very favorably from time to time. There is notice the Commercial, weekly, on Iron Factory, Oil Refining, or trading manufacturing of any kind that is of importance to the Commercial, promptly, because its reports are the only full and reliable ones of the Pittsburgh markets.

It is reported that the resignation of Mr. Rollins having been accepted, and the Senate adjourned, the President will appoint Alexander Cummings, the shoemaker, to be Commissioner of the Internal Revenue. The report that the entire Pennsylvania delegation in Congress were for his confirmation we cannot believe. If it is a fact it only proves that matters are a little worse at Washington than has been supposed. Senator Cameron is called home to Committee, who is said to be on out and out Seymour and Blair man. A beautiful joining of lambs—and lions.

The Germans all over the country, as if by a common impulse, are moving for Grant, as in 1856 they did for Fremont, and in 1860 for Lincoln. German Grant Clubs are becoming numerous in the principal cities and towns, and the prospect is that from no class of his fellow-citizens will Grant receive a warmer support than from his. There is in Grant's character, that which claims their admiration and confidence. Discerning foreigners, they perceive in him one whom they can trust as they trusted Lincoln.

In his speech to the Committee that waited on him to officially communicate the action of the Tammany Convention, Mr. Seymour promised in a short time to send a letter formally accepting the nomination. Beach made the same promise and kept it in a manner that has spread consternation through many of men of conscience and reason of all parties. Seymour, however, keeps fire—to others for wood. But considering how many things he said in connection with the nominating contract to his subsequent action, perhaps there is no occasion for surprise. Either this ballot has become "chronic with Seymour, or Beach's letter knocked him off his pins. Which?

Jere. Dixon approves of the Tammany nominations, applauds Seymour and Blair, and regards the platform as one that will materially aid the South. How wise! If that question be asked, we point to rebel speeches, to the platform of Southern Governors, Majors and Captains at Tammany and throughout the country, and say yes. The Democratic Platform needed the sanction of Jere. Dixon to make it complete. That has come, and the whole batch of rebels are patriots. Now there is further evidence that we have by ballot, perhaps by something fiercer, to contend against the purpose that led to the war!

Our President Johnson one thing can be said, which is that he has been and most likely will continue to be consistent in his bad ways, more especially in resisting Congressional reconstruction. It is also gotten a principle that he either has made, or proposes to make over the slightest occasion in this regard. Our dispatches published Monday morning gave the substance of the President's most recent declaration, which was that he would not recognize the new State governments in the Southern States, except through those which he himself had set up there. The correspondent of the New York Times confirms this as follows:

> In his opinion the Congressional plan of reconstruction is unconstitutional, and he will not recognize the action of the Southern States in accordance with it. He will not, however, oppose the action of Congress in the premises, but will leave the matter entirely in their hands. He will not veto any bill that may be passed, but will allow it to become a law without his signature

TROUT FISHING.

A Frenchman Disobeyed.

How Sojourner Truth met New York.

"Darleigh," the New York correspondent of the Boston Journal, relates the following tale incident, which shows how things are working in the metropolis: "If one pounds at Barrett's, the fashionable, the dining place where merchants and lawyers congregate. There happened to be quite a number of active politicians present, among the company was a democratic politician who was quite opposed to the war. He was quite opposed to Grant. He was quite opposed to everybody who was, in fact, connected with the Republican party. He was opposed to the Democratic nominees, so as to have nobody to support. He didn't like the platform, but I shall vote for him. He didn't like Seymour, because he was the author of Horace Greeley. When the name of Grant was strongly, loudly, and threatened to be, it was received with applause. Then the name of Thomas Seymour was received with applause. Then the name of Horace Greeley was received with applause. Then the name of Grant was received with applause. Then the name of

Address, DAILY COMMERCIAL, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fare Reduced.—Commencing to-day, the fare between Pittsburgh and Allegheny, by the Fifth street bridge line of cars, will be reduced to five cents. Heretofore the fare has been ten cents.

Fine Horses.—Exposed to-day in the market, the city is being considerably in excess of the demand, for such commodities, there are doubtless by the usual number of horses, &c., on hand. Without entering into the details of the matter, we may remark that the fact is worthy of attention, and there would seem to be little room, at the present time, for additional stock.

The Park Question.—In the City Park Commission, to whom have been referred many communications, suggestions, petitions, &c., in regard to the location of the Park, there does not seem to exist what we would call a unanimity of opinion. Each one has his own ideas and views on the subject, and the Commissioners have their hands full.

Pittsburgh.—Hon. Simon Cameron, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and our candidate for the Vice Presidency, passed through the city yesterday, en route to his home at Harrisburg. He was accompanied by Hon. Alexander McClure, editor of Western Congressional Globe fame, and a number of others. No demonstration was made.

Western Virginia Railroad.—A public meeting of the friends of the proposed Monongahela Valley Railroad will be held at Morgantown City on Saturday, the 1st of August, at ten o'clock, A. M. It is hoped that every citizen who is favorable to the road will be represented, as prompt measures must be taken to secure the charter and get the road under way. Hon. J. W. Hazelrigg, a gentleman of ability and influence, will be present and address the meeting.

Young Men's Straight Democrats.—The secession of the Young Men's Authority to Gainsville and Seymour Club, and the formation of a new club, is the result of a difference of opinion as to the propriety of the first alluded to, in connection with the Democratic Campaign. The members are polite and attentive young gentlemen, and will undoubtedly be able successfully organize another club, which will be composed of those who are willing to be controlled by the majority, and who will not be found in the habit of "bolting" the nominations of the party to which they belong. The Commissioners have been requested to meet in the Mayor's office on Friday evening next.

Rev. J. Edwards, D.D., the many years pastor of Shannopin, this, was conferred on the 26th, on the 25th of this month, as Post Chaplain in the United States Army. This gentleman was a volunteer soldier during the late rebellion, and was for a long time Chaplain in the Allegheny Regiment, Colonel Wilson commanding. He was also Chaplain in the Union Army, and is now one of the Chaplains in the United States Army. Public Amusements.

Grand Opera House.—The popular manager, has a corps of vaudevilles, pantomimists and others that is all that could be desired, and the audiences that have been attracted to the house during the week have been large and appreciative. The performances are varied and interesting, and there should be a full house to-night.

Pittsburgh Theatre.—The City Park Commissioners, to whom have been referred many communications, suggestions, petitions, &c., in regard to the location of the Park, there does not seem to exist what we would call a unanimity of opinion. Each one has his own ideas and views on the subject, and the Commissioners have their hands full.

Fatal Accident.

Fatal Accident on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Bankers on Wylie Street.

Several days since we noticed that during the temporary absence of the proprietor, the handsome establishment of Wesley H. Anderson, on Wylie street, had been entered by some base and cowardly villains, and considerable silver watch and jewelry stolen. Information leading to the arrest of the guilty parties was lodged with the Mayor against two boys, named Matthew Lyons and John Hughes, who, it appears, had been employed by Mr. Anderson, and through them what articles were found. A bad colored Kinney was also arrested, but as no evidence was known that he was implicated in the robbery, he was discharged. Lyons was found in Low Dives, in the rear of Fourth street, and Hughes in the Fifth ward. Lyons, it appears, had been under the influence of liquor, and was the first to divulge the secret. Hughes, who is only fifteen years of age, was found in the Fifth ward, and confessed his guilt. Mr. Anderson, on hearing of the arrest, called at the office of Alderman McCready, and had both boys taken from there by one of the officers, and they were locked up in the lock-up. A hearing was had in the case, which resulted in the boys being committed to jail for trial and the discharge of Hughes.

United States Court—Judge McCandless.

In the bankruptcy branch of this Court yesterday a final discharge was granted and certificate awarded to Samuel F. Anderson, of Erie county.

Proceedings were had in the case of Ezra E. W. Swanson, W. A. Stevens, Hugh D. McCreath, John McClintock, of Lawrence county; E. H. Rann, of Jefferson county; John W. Forney, of Warren county.

In the matter of Ellis Morris, tried at Erie on specifications against his bankrupt discharge, and a number of witnesses examined, the case was taken from the jury and submitted to the Court, on motion of A. B. McCalmont, Esq., who argued that the bankrupt had not made a full disclosure of his property, and had failed to comply with the requirements of the law in other particulars, and specifications.

The case of Thomas Hamilton, James F. Searle, a bankrupt, was continued to enable the attorneys assigned to his case, and others, to prepare their papers.

In the case of David Mann and N. W. Odell, the Court granted leave to amend the petition in accordance with the facts.

Consignees' Sales by Number.

The ordinance now before Councils, providing for the sale of consignees' goods on the wharves, on Liberty street and the Allegheny street, extending from the Point to the upper extremity of Lawrenceville, meets with general approval. The Chairman of the Committee on Ordinances, to whom the matter was referred, has had the ordinance drawn up in such a manner as to meet all the objections that have been made to it, and it is believed that it will be passed by Councils at their next meeting. The ordinance provides that all goods to be sold at auction shall be sold by number, and that the auctioneer shall not be allowed to sell any goods that are not in the warehouse at the time of the sale.

Rev. J. Edwards, D.D., the many years pastor of Shannopin, this, was conferred on the 26th, on the 25th of this month, as Post Chaplain in the United States Army. This gentleman was a volunteer soldier during the late rebellion, and was for a long time Chaplain in the Allegheny Regiment, Colonel Wilson commanding.
